Halloween Safety Tips

Halloween is just around the corner, and little ghosts and goblins will soon be knocking on neighborhood doors. To make sure kids have fun and stay safe while they're trick-or-treating, follow these tips.

- Carry a flashlight or glow stick and stay on sidewalks.
- Walk — don't run — and be sure to stay with a group or accompanying adult.
- Carry identification with you. If possible, carry a cell phone as well.
- Stay on sidewalks. If there are none, walk on the left side of the road, facing traffic.
- Cross only at intersections and designated crosswalks.
- Stop only at homes that are well-lit, and don't go inside.
- Carry a spare bag in case the first one breaks.
- Never get in a car with a stranger.
- Bring candy home for inspection before eating any.
- Remember to say, "Thank you!"

All of us at Hamilton.net wish you a safe and happy Halloween!

Short Tutorial/FAQ - What Does The Term "Ping Rate" Mean?

Question: I've seen the term "ping rate" mentioned in online video games but I'm not sure what it means? Can you fill me in?

Answer: Ping rate is simply the delay of messages sent between computers; in other words, how fast you get a response after you've sent out a request. Ping rates will vary based on the quality of your Internet connection and the distance between the server and your computer. Ping is measured in milliseconds, and you can check yours at sites including www.speedtest.net. A fast ping means a more responsive connection, which is especially important in applications where timing is critical such as online video games.
